

Participator

Dedicated to presenting relevant and engaging works by and for practitioners who centre their work around relationships, families, and communities.

- CAMFT's official journal launching this Spring
- Grounded in an anti-oppressive approach
- Multiple streams:
 - decolonizing, diversity, and liberation
 - submissions, reviews, and publishing
 - community and collaboration

Participator

www.ParticipatorJournal.com

ParticipatorJournal@gmail.com

- On-going online publishing hosted by the U of Guelph Library
 - open source, free, and volunteer run
 - established journal publishing software and support
- Interdisciplinary publishing collective
- Evolving and responsive to the needs of volunteers, readers, and communities
- Three compilations/issues per year
 - first theme: our work matters

Participator

www.ParticipatorJournal.com
ParticipatorJournal@gmail.com

- Now seeking:
 - volunteers for all roles
 - proposals and submissions for our first theme
- Next steps:
 - call for submissions officially goes out this Spring
 - building volunteer teams
 - continuing work on building structure and policies

